"Tools" section. Inside the Mind of a Mogul: A Fortune 500 CEO's Adventures in Spiritual Life What happens when a businessman finds God? This is what just happened to me. There's no question that business is the foundation of our country. It employs the majority of our citizens, drives our economy, builds our wealth, and often provides us with the ability to pursue our dreams. Unfortunately, not everyone appreciates the gift of business; some people view the practices and ethics of the business world as cold, calculating, and heartless. I'm here to tell you that this is, and was, just not true for me. It was a desire for a better life, for peace and an understanding of the true purpose of life, that led me on my spiritual journey. And it's been a long one.

My first trip to the inner workings of a Fortune 500 company began while I was working as the Vice President of Human Resources and Personnel for a small company, a job that left me running the HR department for a staff of 500. It was a grueling role that took a lot of time and energy to fulfill and when I wasn't doing it, I was frustrated and didn't know what to do with myself. It got to the point where I didn't even want to look at a paycheck because it felt as if I was only living to serve the people at the company. What I didn't realize at the time was that I wasn't even living. My whole life I had been running away from pain. I had been fleeing from a nagging sense of "not good enough." I had been running from people who would call me lazy or ugly.

And I'd been running 82157476af
